

FIBER ARTS TRIP TO TURKEY
Scheduled for October 3-22, 2007

Aylin Bener of Aylin's Woolgatherer is again inviting you to join her on a trip to Turkey. Not only knitters, crocheters, weavers, spinners, dyers, but also rug collectors, history/archeology buffs and tourists will find plenty of interesting things to see, do and buy on this journey. It will be an adventure of a lifetime which you will want to experience more than once.

Aylin has arranged another wonderful itinerary in her native land which will take us to different parts of Anatolia to see some of the most beautiful examples of Turkish fiber art. We will be tracing the steps of the disciples and visit some of the world-famous biblical sites and ancient ruins. We will explore local yarn dyeing and rug/kilim weaving cooperatives, museums that feature fine embroideries, oyas and a lot more. We will be sampling great food everywhere we go in different parts of Anatolia and have ample opportunity to buy great treasures to build memories on.
